MWO comes home

Oct 6th 2018

Maghull Wind Orchestra comes home this Saturday for its first outing in the town since its triumphant appearance at Liverpool Philharmonic Hall in June.

Since that event, a one-off concert to celebrate the orchestra's 40th anniversary, MWO has entertained audiences at Prescot and Ormskirk but Saturday will be their first return to home territory and musical director Phil Shotton said: 'We've had a lovely time over the last few months but Maghull is our base, it's where we rehearse every week, and we are really looking forward to putting on a show for the audience this Saturday'.

On Saturday October 13th at 7pm the band will play an uplifting selection of music, including some familiar numbers, at Maghull Baptist Church, Hall Lane, Maghull L31 5NQ. It's in aid of the church's campaign to raise money for Breadline, a charity that helps some of the poorest people in Europe in Moldova. Admission is free but donations are welcome. Refreshments will be available at the interval.

All welcome.
