Oct 15th 2018

Maghull Wind Orchestra raised over £1000 for one of Europe's poorest communities at a concert at Maghull Baptist Church last Saturday (October 13th).

The community band, conducted by Phil Shotton, turned out to support a campaign by the charity Breadline, which works with churches in Eastern Europe to improve basic living conditions for thousands of people. Saturday's concert was a fund-raiser for the village of Dancu in Moldova.

Admission to the concert was free but a total of £1035 was raised by donations from the audience.

Brian Pile, executive director of Breadline, and Pastor Slavic Duman, minister of the church in Dancu, attended the concert. Pastor Slavic said: "I am so grateful to the wonderful musicians and the lovely people of Maghull who have come to support us tonight. This money will make a real difference to people who are struggling for food and fuel as winter approaches."

Maghull Wind Orchestra estimate that they have raised around £25,000 for charitable causes over the last five years.
